

#103

DISCOVERY

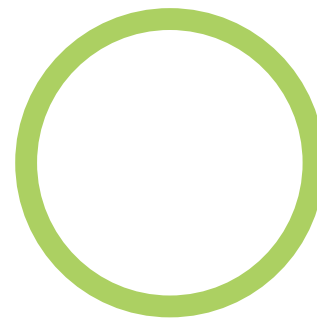

NAME

Lawrencium is named after Ernest Lawrence, who invented the cyclotron particle accelerator.

SHORT-LIVED

Lawrencium is only made in miniscule amounts, and its most stable isotope has a half-life of just ten hours.